PGP IN LEADERSHIP & EXECUTIVE ACCELERATION · 12 MONTHS

The early years of a career are often spent executing other people's decisions. LEAP is built to change that – accelerating early-career professionals into high-impact leadership roles through live labs, global immersions, and direct CXO mentorship.

THE CHALLENGE

Working Hard. But Still Not Moving Forward?

Many early-career professionals fall into the execution trap – gaining experience without gaining leadership exposure. The result is years of capability growth that never translates into seniority, influence, or the compensation it deserves.

LIMITED STRATEGIC EXPOSURE Years of executing tasks without real strategic decision-making experience. You understand the how, but not yet the why behind business choices that matter.	LINEAR SALARY GROWTH Traditional roles follow slow, predictable growth paths. Leadership-positioned roles accelerate faster – and the gap between them is widening.	NO EXECUTION PORTFOLIO Degrees alone no longer differentiate. Employers look for real systems built, projects delivered, and problems solved in live business environments.

OVERVIEW

Business Education the Way Leaders Actually Do It.

"Leadership is not a title earned – it is a discipline built through the accumulation of consequential choices made under real conditions."

PGP LEAP is a twelve-month program for early-career professionals who are ready to stop executing and start leading. It combines Amity University's management faculty with deeply experiential design: real labs, live business challenges, investor showcases, and direct engagement with CXOs who have built what participants aspire to lead.

Every element compresses the typical leadership development timeline. Instead of waiting years for strategic exposure, participants encounter it in month one – through Amity's LiveLabs framework, which places real business problems, live revenues, and live P&L accountability in participants' hands from the start.

The program culminates in a structured Career Launchpad: mock interviews, resume optimisation, and access to Amity's 300+ hiring partner network – ensuring skills built in the program are immediately visible to the right employers.
